October.

The following exquisite sonnet by Bryant is appropriate to the season :

Ay, thou art welcome, heaven's delicious breath, When woods begin to wear the crimson leaf, And suns grow meek, and the meek suns grow brief, And the year smiles as it draws near its death. Wind of the sunny south, O, still delay In the gay woods and in the golden air,

Like to a good old age released from care, Journeying in long serenity away. In such a bright, late quiet, would that I Might wear out like thee, 'mid bower and brooks, And, dearer yet, the sunshine of kind looks, And murmur of kind voices ever nigh; And, when my last sand twinkled in the glass, Pass silently from men as thou dost pass.
